

THEATRE - DANCE - CHORUS - SPORTS

1. WATCHING "FAIRY TALES IN THE MIXER"

All the students watched a very beautiful theatrical representation at ARISTOTELION The New theatre in Thessaloniki presented with his Children's scene the work "fairy tales in the mixer" directed by Konstantinos Rigos. Cinderella, Little Red Hood, Snow-white and the Seven Dwarfs, Prince Frog, The Beauty and the Beast, The Princess and the Pea are the fairy tales that "caused" the activation of the joy and imagination. This time our beloved heroes that were bored narrating the same tales undertook the responsibility of intervening and changing the plot of their stories.

2. WATCHING- Till the end of the dream. . .

As a school we visited cinema-theatre RADIO CITY. The juvenile theatrical team, Avanti presented the work of Kelly Stamoylaki "Till the end of the dream...", (by Ektora Malo's novel -With Family) It is the story of young Stone, who with unique "baggages" his brave soul and an innocent heart begins a travel full of obstacles and predicaments, maintaining however the optimism and his faith, and finally finds friendship and love. A work that taught us that if you believe in good you will find it.

3. Attending a theatrical performance - Isn't it strange?

We watched a very beautiful theatrical performance at the cinema-theatre: ARISTOTELION The new theatre in Thessaloniki presented the play "Isn't it Strange?" with his Juvenile Scene of Maria Papagianni and Thanou Mikroutsikou. Isn't it strange that in our dreams we are either super heroes or weak? That the children need the fantastic world in order to explain their everyday routine? That in the monstrous modern rhythms we have forgotten the small marvels of everyday routine and we reach a point where we revise everything and understand the force of simplest things as a warm hug. A children's play in which imagination embraces the dream and memories wake up precious thoughts.
