‘Top Dance’ was the best ballet school in the country. Some great ballerinas graduated from this school. Marilena was sure she was going to be one of these great ballerinas. She was almost perfect! In her class there was also Stella, who was quite good but she never believed in herself. One day, the ballet teacher announced to the young ballerinas that there was going to be a global contest where only three dancers from ‘Top Dance’ could participate. A special committee would choose which of the ballerinas would go to the contest. At the audition Marilena was fantastic. Stella began dancing but lost her steps. Later, her teacher told her that unless she believed in herself, she wouldn’t succeed. “It takes effort and self-confidence,” she told her. Stella couldn’t sleep because she was thinking about her teacher’s words.

The next day the teacher announced the dancers that would represent ‘Top Dance’: Marilena, Mary and ... Stella!!!! Stella couldn’t believe it. She was scared, of course, because Marilena was among the best ballerinas and she was certain to win! She started training hard repeating to herself “I can do it!” On the day of the contest Marilena entered the scene so confident of herself. She danced gracefully and when she finished she was joyful! She was positive she was the winner! Stella’s turn came. She concentrated to overcome her fears and started dancing passionately. In her mind she had her teacher’s words.

It was time for the contest results: A girl from England took third position, Marilena took second and Stella took first position. Stella was shocked!!! Her teacher hugged her and told her “This prize must always remind you that what seems so close for some people, is in fact far away from them! Always believe in yourself!”

2017-18, 2^η θέση Βαγγέλι Κλέρι, ΣΤ2- στην κατηγορία Short story

There was once a man who lived in a crowded neighborhood but he never interacted with the people in it. He wasn’t always like this, though. After losing his dad at an early age and seeing his mother fall into depression, he became closed to himself. He started hanging out with the wrong people. Eventually, he got trust issues, as many of his friends had let him down, and got into bad habits.

When he grew up and became more mature, he still wouldn’t open up. He was surly and people avoided him as they thought he was a big bore. That wasn’t exactly wrong, his life was pretty monotonous: he would wake up, go to work, come home and go to bed. The next day, he would do the same all over again.

As time passed, he found out that he was suffering from a serious illness due to heavy drinking and smoking. Doctors gave him only four months to live. Being in such poor health made him think that it was time to change. He started talking to neighbors, called people for dinner and his sad mother to come and live with him. Everyone was caught by surprise but were happy with this change. When they learned about his condition, they all tried to make his last months his best.

The months passed; everyone was waiting for him to go. Although they were all sad, they managed to smile, kept him company and discussed the important things in life. He was grateful. He thought these months were the best in his life. He couldn’t believe what he was missing all through his life.

His last day never came. With this little help from his loved ones, the man got over his health problem and started life from zero.
